James McKenna
Senior Real Estate Advisor |
Milwaukee

James serves as a real estate advisor specializing in retail real estate with a focus on both landlord and tenant representation. He joined Colliers | Wisconsin in 2021 as a research analyst, working with the Design and Analytics department.

In his former role, James gathered, analyzed and presented data in an effort to guide effective decision making for all members of the brokerage team and their clients. This experience allowed him to gain insight and understanding of virtually every asset type, helping him build knowledge of the market through first-hand analysis and research.

James delivers a superior experience for his clients with his unique understanding of the market, utilizing a robust set of skills to offer best in class service to all that he works with.
